Strong Gale Actually Holds Up Game Several Times — Clarke Is Outstanding Arlington Player With Buckley Doing Great Job — Arlington Starts Strongly With Three Scores In First Inning — O'Neil Runs Away With Game For Melrose

The Arlington High Baseball team again had to swallow a bad defeat at the hands of an inferior opponent when it met Melrose High last Saturday. The score was 11-3 in favor of Melrose. The Melrose outfit failed to roll up as large a score as that which was tallied by Winthrop High against Arlington, however.

There were many reasons that might be used as alibi and any one might be sufficient. The wind was blowing a strong gale directly into the batters. Many thought this should help the pitchers, but it hindered them greatly as it affected their control. This was especially true of Weidaw, who wasn't at all wild, yet the wind would take his deliveries, and make him look like a second-rater while he was really pitching good ball. The field itself was terrible. The third baseman would hardly see over the tremendous mound in first base. Arlington started off like a house afire by getting four hits in a row and obtaining three runs for a comfortable lead. But Melrose led by their brilliant Captain "Jerry" O'Neil came back to score three runs to tie the score and then 8 more to win the game. In the field for Arlington, Buckley was the outstanding star as well as at bat. Clarke vied with him for honors in catching wild paws.

First Inning
Greely met the second ball pitched to drop it in about the tenth row of the left field grandstand. But field rules agreed upon by both coaches before the game allowed only two bases. Buckley took the first ball pitched, and dropped it over third base to score Greely. Getting into the spirit of the occasion Captain Clarke hit a Texas Leaguer and advanced Buckley. Crovo came through with a grounder to left field, advancing both runners and filling the bases. It looked good for Arlington now three on, none out, and Hendrick, a hard hitter, coming to bat. Hendrick was hit by the ball and Buckley was forced in for another run. Coach Poole of Melrose decided the pitcher had had enough and Creelman was through. Connelly came in to take his place. Wright hit a hard one at Curley on short stop who fielded nicely, and made the play for home, but Clarke knocked the catcher spinning, and he dropped the ball allowing the score, Wright going to first the fielder's choice. The end of the list came to bat and Arlington's short rally was over as well as all their scoring for the game. Merrill fanned. Staff hit an infield fly which was automatically out. Weidaw was thrown out at first. Arlington scored three runs in this half. The team batted around.

Captain O'Neil hit the first ball pitched to Greely at short stop who made a hard stop but being too late to make the putout, he held the ball. O'Neil then proceeded to steal everything but the players' belts. Merrill got Wright's throw to second base somewhere in centerfield. This upset Weidaw enough to pass Maroux. Foley was thrown out at first. Both runners advanced on the sacrifice. Curley hit a hard one over pitcher's box and Greely tearing over scooped it up with one hand and threw him out at first, unable to prevent O'Neil from scoring. Again Weidaw got a little flustered and walked Taylor. Connelly then singled to left field, and Crovo trying to get the man at the plate got set for a long throw home but the ball went through his legs. Maroux and Taylor scored, and Connelly went to third base on the error. Crovo made up for the error a little by making an extremely difficult catch on Weidaw's long fly, which nearly went into the stands. Melrose tallied three runs to tie the score. Greely's stop on Curley being the feature of the inning. Score 3-3.

Second Inning
Greely hit a long fly to deep center, where O'Neil made a nice catch. Buckley got his second hit of the game to short right field. With one out Clarke bunted nicely, and was thrown out at first. Buckley on second, with two out. Crovo was thrown out at first.

Winsow struck out. Steer singled to deep left field. Then Buckley started to play real baseball, making a peach of a stop on O'Neil's hard grounder, he threw from the trench, where he had to play, to Merrill on second thereby forcing Steer. Merrill let drive for first base, but was a little weak and Clarke managed to get in front of the ball and dig it out of the dirt. He held O'Neil on first, Maroux

With the Arlington Homemaker

At the request of several readers, we are eager to suggest the seven following menus which should make a decided hit for your bridge party. With fresh strawberries now plentiful and at reasonable prices it was believed advisable to include several delicious dishes which might be prepared with fresh berries. Here are the menus:

I
Club Sandwich
Strawberry Sherbert Macaroons
Coffee

II
Lobster Salad in Popovers
Brown Bread Sandwiches
Cucumber Sandwiches
Strawberry Tarts Iced Tea

III
Ginger Ale Salad
Roquefort Cheese Sandwiches
Coffee

IV
Fruit Salad
Cream Cheese and Mint Jelly
Sandwiches
Frosted Coffee

V
Creamed Shrimps in Patty Shells
Tomato Sandwiches
Mocha Cake Coffee

VI
Crabmeat and Cucumber Salad
Finger Rolls
Strawberry Sandwiches
Rhubarb Punch

VII
Mint Gelatine
Cherry Sandwiches, Sugar Wafers
Salted Nuts Mints

The recipes for these menus follow:

Strawberry Sherbert
Cook one quart of strawberries in one pint of water until soft. Put them through a sieve, add 2 cups of sugar, the juice of one-half a lemon and a few grains of salt. Chill. Fold in the well-beaten whites of 2 eggs, and freeze.

Lobster Salad Popovers
Make popovers in your smallest pans, split one edge and fill the hollow with lobster salad. The lobster meat must be cut very small for this use. These can be eaten from the fingers.

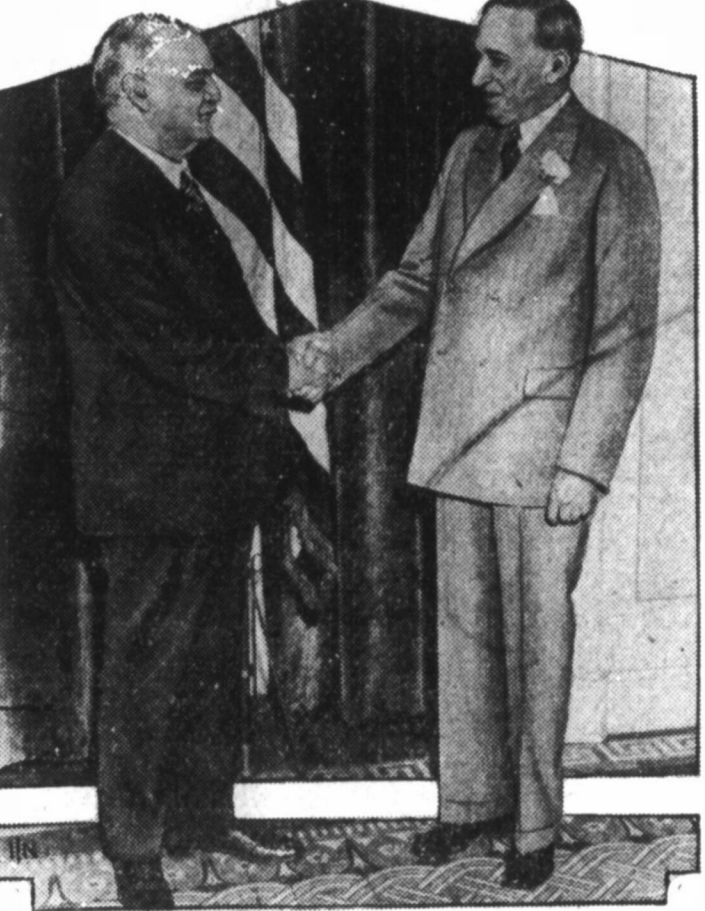

Strawberry Tarts
Fill rich patty shells with fresh berries. Cover with whipped cream, slightly sweetened and flavored with lemon juice. Garnish with a few halved berries and serve at once.

Ginger Ale Salad
Is a pleasant surprise for a party. Make a gelatine using following proportions:
Two tablespoons gelatine. Soak in 2 tablespoons cold water. Dissolve in 1-3 cup boiling water. Add 1/4 cup lemon juice, 2 tablespoons sugar, a tiny pinch of salt and a cup of ginger ale. When the jelly begins to set, fold in 1/2 cup of white grapes, split and seeded, 1/4 cup of celery, cut small, 1-3 cup diced apple, 1/2 cup diced canned pineapple, and a tablespoon of fine chopped candied ginger. Turn into individual molds to chill and stiffen. (Makes 8-10 molds). Unmold, garnish with heart leaves of lettuce and dress with mayonnaise to which whipped cream has been added. Serve with Roquefort cheese sandwiches.

Creamed Shrimps
Two cans of shrimps, dried, half a can of pimientos, shredded fine, three hard-boiled eggs, coarsely chopped. Put into a rich cream sauce, made with three tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, one and one-half cups cream or top milk and a well-beaten egg. Serves 6-8.

Strawberry Sandwiches
Spread split lady-fingers with crushed berries mixed with marshmallow cream and a few drops of almond extract.

Welcomed to U. S. Senate

GENERAL FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS TO MEET IN SEATTLE SOON

The twenty-first biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs will be held in Seattle, Washington, June 9-18, the president, Mrs. John F. Sippel, presiding. "Carry your cargo and make your port," is the keynote of the convention and around it will be built a program to which nationally known women and men will contribute. Addresses, reports and recommendations will be offered by the chairmen and other workers in the major departments, American Citizenship, American Home, Fine Arts, Education, International Relations, Legislation, Press and Publicity and Public Welfare.

The high point of interest will be the election of officers. Nine candidates for the five offices were announced and introduced at the convention in Phoenix, Arizona, a year ago. Since then no additional announcements have been made. All of the candidates have served as presidents of their state federations and as General Federation Directors. For president but one candidate is announced, Mrs. Grace Morrison Poole of Brockton, Massachusetts. "Grace Morrison Poole has the horizon of the world in her eye," said an editorial writer, recently. Inasmuch as Mrs. Poole is a noted public speaker on international problems and current events and spends her summers in foreign travel collecting material for her lectures, this comment is notably appropriate. Following conspicuous achievement in her own state, Mrs. Poole was elected recording secretary of the General Federation, which office she held for four years. Four years ago she was elected first vice-president. Boston University recently conferred upon Mrs. Poole the honorary degree of Doctor of Humanities.

Two candidates are announced for first vice president, Mrs. Eugene B. Lawson of Tulsa, Oklahoma, and Mrs. Henry C. Taylor of Bloomfield, Iowa. Following a long and successful career of club leadership in her own state, Mrs. Lawson became chairman of the Division of Music in the General Federation and wrote a book on Indian Music Programs. Four years ago she was elected second vice president of the General Federation. She is a member of the Board of Regents of the Oklahoma State College for women and the only woman trustee of the University of Tulsa. Mrs. Lawson has the picturesque distinction of being an Indian Princess, the grand-

BOYS DROWNED IN LOCAL POND WITH THIRD COMPANION

An examination of her injuries revealed slight lacerations and contusion of the head. Her condition was reported as "fair" at the hospital last night.

Santoliquido's and Vogel's Bodies Brought To Surface by Belmont Diver Yesterday Afternoon—Arlington Junior High Boys Vanished Last Monday—Other Body Recovered Last Friday—Funeral Services Tomorrow

The mystery which surrounded the disappearance of three Arlington high school boys who have been missing since last Monday was definitely solved yesterday afternoon when Fred Wallace, professional Belmont diver, recovered the bodies of Gino Santoliquido, and John Vogel from the icy waters of Bay Pond. The two boys disappeared while canoeing with David Heinrich, a companion, whose body was recovered last Friday afternoon. Although the grappling of the first body from the pond last Friday afternoon led many to believe that the two other boys had met with the same fate, others still clung to the possible theory that the two other boys had been scared away from the pond after Heinrich had met death by drowning. However, these hopes were shattered with the recovery of their bodies yesterday afternoon. The Arlington police, under the supervision of police chief Archie F. Bullock hunted the missing boys in several cities last week when it was first thought that they had run away from home. While this search was going on, details of officers worked unceasingly dragging the pond, from last Tuesday until yesterday and under all kinds of weather conditions.

Nothing was left undone by Chief Bullock and his men in order to find the missing boys or recover the bodies. After the first body had been found last Friday, their efforts were redoubled. Dragging of the pond continued until ten o'clock Friday night. An increased detail was sent to the pond early Saturday morning and dragging continued until late Saturday evening while several hundred people looked from the shores of the pond, which is in the center of the town.

Despite a cold rain, dragging was resumed yesterday morning and when the grappling irons failed to bring the bodies to the surface, it was decided to send Fred Wallace, a professional diver from Belmont, below the surface. A raft on which an oxygen tank and diver's equipment were placed, was brought from the shore of the pond, and anchored at the approximate spot where Heinrich's body was found Friday afternoon. Wallace started to dive for the bodies at 10.30 yesterday morning. He recovered the body of John Vogel shortly after one o'clock and that of Gino Santoliquido at 3.10 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Medical examiner David C. Dow viewed the bodies which were removed to L. E. A. Smith's undertaking parlors awaiting funeral arrangements.

William O. Hauser, chairman of the board of selectmen and Chief Bullock were at the pond while diving operations were in progress. Although the police ceased to drag the pond while Wallace was diving in order not to give him a clear view under water, a large detail remained at the pond to assist him.

The two bodies, found by Wallace yesterday, were two hundred feet off Wyman's point and were so entangled in weeds that the diver stated there would have been the slightest chance of their coming to the surface. He is also of the opinion that the three boys were drowned without any possible chance of swimming away from the tangle.

The second body was recovered just at the time when funeral services for David Heinrich, the first victim whose body was recovered, got under way at the Calvary Methodist Church yesterday afternoon. Dr. William Shaw, "located at Heinrich's funeral and burial took place in Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

John Vogel was born in Cambridge sixteen years ago. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Vogel and a brother, Anthony. His funeral is expected to take place from the home, 72 Thorndike street, tomorrow.

Funeral services for Gino Santoliquido will be held in St. Agnes' Church tomorrow morning with burial in Mt. Pleasant cemetery. He leaves his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Santoliquido; two sisters, Mary and Rita; and two brothers, Michael and Guido. He was born in Somerville.

A large delegation of classmates from the East Arlington Junior high school is expected to attend funeral services of the two drowning victims who lost their lives on the first day of their spring vacation last week.

The local Kiwanians are making plans to attend the barn dance which will be sponsored by the Woburn club in the Woburn armory on Friday, May 20.

Cars Damaged In Accident

An automobile coupe operated by Florence H. Bartlett, of the McLean Hospital, Waverly, collided with a touring car operated by Marshall R. Hathaway, of Jamaica Plains, here yesterday afternoon at 4.15 o'clock. None of the occupants of the autos was injured although both cars were slightly damaged. The accident took place at the intersection of Massachusetts avenue and Pleasant street.

SHOP COURSE PROVES INTERESTING TO BOYS

Have you ever walked in upon a group of boys in some school only to find them perfectly contented and getting a big kick out of their work? Perhaps not, for boys don't usually get much of a thrill out of school. However, here's one exception where Arlington boys wouldn't miss class for anything. It's the group of lively youngsters taking the General Shop Course which is offered at the old Parmenter school, corner of Irving and Academy streets.

Here, forty-eight students under the supervision of Roland A. Bourdon, popular instructor, work daily and learn to make useful things in a most orderly workshop. All these pupils are junior high school boys from all over town. And, they take their work quite seriously. Proudly, they'll show visitors samples of the work which have been completed during the past few weeks. Here, they'll show you some fine sheet-metal work, quaint antique lamps, sink scrapers, weather vanes and scores of other artistic pieces of work. They'll point out an odd-shaped Spanish lantern which was made by their instructor as a model. Then, there's wrought iron work which includes andirons and flower stands that would pass the test in any gift shop.

In addition, the boys are also getting thorough training in wood work and the elements of electricity. The fine pieces of furniture made by these boys would certainly grace any living room. They include foot-stools, magazine racks, smoking stands and countless other handy pieces of furniture. As for the electrical course, the boys are trained by means of a special board on which diagrams are laid out and apparatus wired. Mr. Bourdon likewise instructs this department.

And does the instructor enjoy the work? Well, just ask him, and his broad smile will convince you that he most certainly does. The principal reason is that his pupils enjoy the work and enjoy following out his instructions. He doesn't go about his work as a "ruler," but rather as an adviser. Yet, the boys are not allowed to do any slipshod work. Everything must be done to perfection; everything must require patience on the part of both instructor and pupils. Yet, all enjoy it thoroughly. Much of this successful course depends upon Mr. Bourdon, a graduate of Fitchburg Normal school and, incidentally, a native of that city. Mr. Bourdon resides at 10 Highland avenue, Arlington. In addition to his work here, he is taking a graduate course at Boston College. And here's a secret, Mr. Bourdon might be quite capable as a supervisor of music, because he happens to be a talented singer. For the present, he's doing a mighty fine job as shop course instructor at the Parmenter School.

Motorists Advised To Get Safety Stickers

"The tragic list this week," said Morgan T. Ryan, Registrar of Motor Vehicles, "shows a slight increase over the closing week of April last year with a higher percentage of motorists deaths," in his comment on the report of the week's fatal motor vehicle accidents.

There were 11 persons killed last week, the same as the previous week, but two more than the corresponding period last year. Six of these were pedestrians and five were occupants of vehicles, two of the victims were children. Commenting further, Registrar Ryan said:

"There was one fatal hit-run accident, which must be so classified because the operator ran away leaving his girl companions lying injured in the roadway. There were six pedestrian victims. Two of them were walking along the road at night, which apparently points either to unpardonable inattention on the part of the operators or to defective headlight equipment. The other four pedestrians, their ages ranging from 3 years to 79, were crossing the street when struck."

"One other flagrant case of unsafe driving was that of the woman who tried twice to pass another car going in the same direction. In the second attempt the car struck some sand or the left shoulder of the road and, turning over, killed two of its occupants. Such are the unspeakably frightful results of a motorist's insane, foolhardy desire to pass everyone else on the road."

"Mr. Motorist, remember this excellent rule: 'If you want highways safe for yourself, drive so as to make them safe for others.'"

Motorists also have been urged to have their cars inspected and carrying the certificates of efficiency prominently displayed on them. Those who fail to show a "sticker" today and hereafter will be seriously embarrassed if caught.

A total of 114 persons were convicted last week for operating while under the influence of liquor, 48 more than in the preceding week. Eleven were committed to jail, four from District Courts and seven from Superior Court.

Eight persons were convicted for the second time within six years in District Courts for operating while under the influence of liquor. Three were given jail sentences and appealed, four were committed to jail and one paid a fine.

There were 1279 licenses and registrations suspended or revoked last week, 631 more than in the week before and 688 more than in the same period last year. Of these, 116 were for driving after drinking intoxicating liquor and 1457 on account of insurance cancellations.

MEDFORD OUTHIT, DROPS FIRST GAME TO MALDEN HIGH TO TUNE 11-7

Nosworthy's Circuit Clouts, Longest Made This Season on Malden Field, Help to Put Game on Ice for Malden—Medford Shows Marked Improvement in Handling Ball Over Early Season and May Make Malden Step at Second Contest Later

Medford High outhit and went down to defeat 11 to 7 at the Malden High Stadium Saturday, but in spite of its defeat, Medford showed marked improvement in its game. The error column was down where it should be, showing Medford's improvement in handling the ball over the opening games.

This was the first of Medford's games against Malden and when the two teams met again, also on the Malden field, Medford may even up matters, particularly if it shows as great improvement as it has since the previous game.

Eric Nosworthy of circuit clouts was the chief block to a Medford victory. The hits were the longest on the Malden field this season. Sacco and McCurdy each secured triples for the Medford squad while Malden's heavy hitting center fielder, Hnnian, tallied two similar clouts. Malden outhit the Medford tribe, however, getting 18 basehits to 13 for Medford and getting hits when they counted for runs.

JUMBOS PUNISH THE TERRIERS 6 TO 0 WITH ANDY MAKING 4 STRAIGHT

Felix Andruszkiewicz, sensational pitching ace of the Jumbos, held Boston University to two scattered hits at Tufts Oval, Saturday afternoon when the Tufts nine shut out their Boston guests 6 to 0. Incidentally it was the fourth straight victory which the Haverhill boys have pitched this season for Tufts.

In the seventh Bobby Verge connected with one of Corson's offerings for a home run which placed the game on ice. It was the first homer for a Tufts man this season.

Andy sent seven men to the bench via the strike-out route, passed only one man and supported in fine style by the infield, had the visitors at his mercy the entire game. Wilson and Donovan were the only two to connect for a base hit, one coming in the third inning and one in the sixth.

"Everlasting Punishment" Is Sermon Theme

"Everlasting Punishment" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which was read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, May 1.

The Golden Text was "Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such an one in the spirit of meekness" (Galatians 6:1).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful. For the Lord knoweth the way of the righteous; but the way of the ungodly shall perish" (Psalm 1:1-6).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "We acknowledge God's forgiveness of sin in the destruction of sin and the spiritual understanding that casts out evil as unreal. But the belief in sin is punished so long as the belief lasts" (p. 497).

Prof. Winslow Of Tufts To Conduct Course At Wellesley

Professor Earle M. Winslow, head of the department of economics and sociology at Tufts College, is to conduct a course in "The Trade and Financial Policies of Nations as Factors in International Relations" as a part of the program of the New England Institute of International Relations in a ten-day course to be held at Wellesley College from June 23 to July 2.

The course is being given particularly for those interested in promoting world peace, with the hope of setting forth ways and means by which those attending can best use the information secured to create attitudes of international goodwill and understanding in their own communities. Members of the faculty are to include Sidney B. Fay of Harvard, Harold E. B. Speight of Dartmouth and formerly minister of King's Chapel in Boston, Yusuke Kojima of the University of Tokyo, Edward E. Curtis of Wellesley, Pitman R. Potter of the University of Wisconsin, and Norman Thomas, executive secretary of the League for Industrial Democracy. Eight courses will be offered, covering all phases of international relations.

The enrollment is to be limited to one hundred and fifty persons, preferably those who are, or expect to be, actively engaged in some capacity in forwarding better international relations.

The twelve applicants voted on at the last session, together with others recently admitted, will be included in a class of candidates to be initiated in the near future. Chief Ranger Brine expects to have a large class.

Such is fame! A member accepted at the last meeting lives in Beachmont, but prefers membership in St. Martha Court. The Court also boasts of an active member, Miss Mary (McDonald), from the wealthy town of Brookline. Is it possible that folks from other sections are more cognizant of the aggressiveness of "302" than residents of Wellesley who are eligible?

Miss Rose Rooney is upholding the prestige of the Court on the golf links. According to score cards seen at the clubhouse of a popular Wakefield course, Rose drives the little white pellets with the accuracy of a Bobby one.

And speaking of outdoor sports one of the booklets report that Miss Ethel Cleary is an exceptionally fine tennis player. But, Joe Olsen says, "that's a racket."

I WONDER? Who is the Court's best female impersonator?

Why a popular brother prefers to use a pay station instead of his home phone when making certain calls?

If a certain sister expects the diet treatment to be successful when she insists on having "seconds" when refreshments are served?

Who will be the first sister or brother to make a contribution to this column? "The Wonderer"

TRAGEDY STRIKES HOME

Three Arlington families today are mourning the loss of their sons who were the victims of drowning at Spy Pond. To lose one that is dear is difficult to bear, but when death snuffs out the lives of three boys so suddenly, the blow is terrific.

Sadness reigns over the entire community because of this drowning accident and the News joins the population in expressing heartfelt sympathies to the bereaved families. The three boys who lost their lives were keen-minded and of fine character; much was expected of them; but the Almighty decreed otherwise. It is hoped that they have gone to a just reward in Life Beyond.

It would be useless to try to place the blame for this tragedy upon anyone's shoulders. The boys were considered fair swimmers; they hired a canoe; it tipped; they were tossed, fully dressed, in the midst of long entangling weeds which held them in a death-grip. They had no chance. The tragedy should sound a warning to other Arlington boys.

To the credit of Chief Archie F. Bullock and his efficient force, we might say that the News kept in close touch with their activities in this case and that they did everything possible to find the boys when they were believed missing and to recover the bodies when the boys were thought to have drowned. For five long days the officers dragged Spy Pond despite uncomfortably cold weather, rain and even snow. Consider what thoughts ran through their mind as they grappled for the lifeless forms of the three lads, yes, boys just like their own. Theirs is a task too often not appreciated.

GIVE THE CHILD A FAIR START

May 1st was designated as Child Health Day by President Hoover and in harmony with the national policy, Governor Ely has issued a proclamation urging the people of Massachusetts to set aside a day for the recognition of past achievement and health improvement and that community attention be focused upon the possibilities of the future in health building and race improvement. Child Health Day should not pass unnoticed by Arlington parents.

The Massachusetts Department of Public Health, for several years has stimulated the observance of Child Health Day. Many towns and cities have incorporated Child Health into their regular school health program and routinely on this day give very special recognition to those who have made improvement in health since the beginning of school last fall.

The Child Health Day celebration is always an inspiring activity—happy, bright-eyed boys and girls enjoying their games and dances and especially the delightful and colorful Maypole dance and finally, proudly accepting some token of reward in recognition of their splendid effort resulting in evident health improvement.

Outside the schools Child Health Day has come to have real meaning. Many of the organizations donate the May meeting to the consideration of health. Child Health Day has been the inspiration which has resulted in many a playground, a dental clinic, a diphtheria immunization campaign, a school lunchroom, a pasteurized milk service, or even has been instrumental in securing more adequate health service.

And now Child Health Day has come to stand for even another very concrete thing—it means it's time to get ready for school! Right now, near May Day, the little people who will for the very first time go to school next fall should make a visit to the family doctor and to the dentist, so that mother and daddy can know if there are any physical defects to clear up before that glorious first day of school coming in just a few months. Get those bad teeth, perhaps diseased tonsils, maybe defective vision or hearing cured or well on the way to cure during the summer. Parents, realize that you do not play fair with your children when you allow them to go to school with physical handicaps that could be remedied. And if vaccination and inoculation against diphtheria are not already accomplished include these two vastly important jobs in this business of getting ready for school. Remember just three harmless inoculations—a week apart, and in from three to six months your child is protected against diphtheria—(Such a simple procedure and yet because of indifference or procrastination one child in Massachusetts is allowed to die every 36 hours.) And don't commit the unpardonable sin of allowing your child to come to school with a sore arm from his vaccination. May Day marks the time to begin getting ready for school and those school days will doubtless be happier and more successful because of this this good early beginning!

Child Health Day then, helps to promote those health principles that lead to richer, happier and more abundant lives!

Daddy Sunshine
Club Rules

1. Be kind and helpful to others.
2. Look both ways when crossing streets.
3. Always be kind to dumb animals.
4. Write a letter to Daddy Sunshine, or have Mother or Dad write it for you, every now and then.
5. Try to bring a "Ray of Sunshine" into the lives of your parents and others every day of the week and every week of the year.

These rules are not very difficult for good girls and boys to keep. Most of them are kept by them anyway. Mail your letters and stories to Daddy Sunshine, in care of this paper. He will answer them in the Daddy Sunshine Column.

Write on but one side of the paper, and place your age and address on the letter after your name. Give the day, month and year of your birth.

To join the club all you have to do is promise to keep the rules—and keep them.

A Fine Story

Dear Daddy Sunshine:
How are you? I am going to send in a story. The name of it is "The Little Leaf".

Many years ago there was a great famine in Germany. There was a rich old man who loved children. So he sent for twenty children and said: "In this basket there is a loaf of bread for each of you. Take it and come back every day till the famine is over. I will give you a loaf each day." The children were very hungry. They struggled to get the largest loaf. After they got the bread they forgot to thank the man. Every one ran away with their bread except little Grechen.

She took the last and smallest loaf of bread and thanked him with all her heart. The next day the children came again and behaved badly as ever. Grechen, who would not push, waited till all the children had gone. She thanked the man again and went home.

Her mother started to cut the bread when she felt a shining coin of silver.

"Oh! Grechen," cried her mother, "bring the money back to the gentleman!" Grechen carried it back, but he said that was only to reward you. Remember that a person who is contented to have a small loaf rather than quarrel for a large one, will find blessings that are better than money, baked in bread, he said.

Hope you like it?

Rose Cohen,
72 Main street

Daddy Sunshine liked your story very much. Rose, it carried a fine moral to it. Why not write more like it.

Interesting Letter

Dear Daddy Sunshine:
Today in school we had a very interesting meeting. A boy in our class told us two of the most interesting stories we have heard in a long time. His hands were flying as he spoke. His voice went down and then up. He paced the floor as his voice echoed across the room. He now made sour faces and then smiling ones. He got a big hand at the end. I liked your program very much.

An ancient member,
Ella DeConte.

Thanks, Ella, Daddy Sunshine was more than pleased to hear from you again. Your description of the boy speaker is very good. Write again, soon.

Commissioner Guy
Sues Officials Of Lowell Trust Co.

A bill in equity asking that the Supreme Court establish the liability of the president and 16 directors of the closed Lowell Trust Company for losses sustained by the bank was filed in Supreme Court yesterday by Bank Commissioner Arthur Guy, through his counsel, attorney James M. Graham of Boston. The bill is against Pres. George M. Harrigan and the 16 other directors of the closed bank.

After the bill was filed Judge Edward P. Pierce of the Supreme Court issued a special precept of attachment in the sum of $500,000 against real estate owned by the president and 14 directors of the bank, and also restrained some of the directors from removing the contents of their safety deposit in the bank, or from disposing of stock listed in their names in various corporations.

It is set forth in the bill that the stockholders, under a 100 percent assessment, owe the sum of $240,000. This sum, added to the assets of the bank, brings the total to an amount that is insufficient to meet the claims of the bank's creditors and depositors in full. The Bank Commissioner says. The bill charges that the defendant directors failed in their duties and permitted Harrigan to exercise full control over the resources and investments of the bank, so that unlawful, imprudent, reckless and wasteful acts were committed by Harrigan.

GENERAL FEDERATION

lation four years ago. She spends a good deal of time in Washington on behalf of the measures sponsored by the General Federation. Mrs. Fraim's interests embrace church and civic life as well as club work.

Dr. Peirce has done excellent work during the past four years as vice chairman of the Department of American Home and Family Finance. Her booklets on "Your Child and His Money," "Buy Intelligently and Family Finance" have won praise from several state universities and from the United States Government. Aside from her club work, Dr. Peirce is a professional woman, a wife and mother.

Mrs. Minier first won distinction in the General Federation when Nebraska was announced as the first state in the Union to complete its home equipment survey seven years ago and first to get under way the follow-up campaign. For four years she has been chairman of the Division of Community Service in the General Federation and one year ago was made chairman of the newly created committee on Economic Adjustment. Under this committee has been conducted the Federation's Wise Spending Program and other projects calculated to alleviate the depressed economic condition and the subsequent lack of employment.

Mrs. Saddle Orr Dunbar of Portland, Oregon, is the only announced candidate for the office of recording secretary. Mrs. Dunbar has served the General Federation on numerous committees and four years ago she was made chairman of the Department of Public Welfare, shortly afterward she was made Dean of Department chairmen and a member of the Executive Committee. She represented the General Federation on the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection. Mrs. Dunbar is executive secretary of the Oregon Tuberculosis Association. She has two children and is a widow.

Mrs. Edward Hammett of Sheboygan, Wisconsin, treasurer of the General Federation, is a candidate for reelection. She was elected treasurer two years ago at the Denver Biennial. Mrs. Hammett is serving as chairman of the Foundation Fund in her state and is active in the social, civic and educational life of her home city as well as being an active business woman, being secretary-treasurer of the Hammett Gift Shop Inc., of which her husband is president.

To Protect Health

Washington, D. C., May—The first-line defenses against disease—school health service, contact disease control, health education, child clinics and other clinics—must not be battered down by a wave of false economy, according to Mrs. Saddle Orr Dunbar, Chairman of the Department of Public Welfare of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. In an effort to prevent such a calamity, Mrs. Dunbar has issued a call to the Federated Club Women of the country to rally to the defense of health departments in their communities.

"Economy in public taxing and public spending is a strict necessity at the present time, but a distinction must be made between reasonable public economy and that economy which cuts to the quick the tried resources of a civilized community," says Mrs. Dunbar.

"An example of false economy is one that occurred in a city of eight hundred thousand population a short time ago. The city fathers made such drastic cuts in the public health appropriation that it was necessary to greatly reduce the staff of health workers who were improving the general health of their fellow citizens. This meant the loss of eighteen physicians, one of them a child specialist, four school physicians and others who were seeking to control communicable diseases, and eighteen public health nurses.

"Another large city has dropped one hundred employees from its roll of health workers and has eliminated school examiners and dental service. Funds for county and state health departments are likewise being curtailed, with the result that much important and necessary work cannot be continued."

Mrs. Dunbar, in her call to club women, urges them to stand behind their health departments and insist that funds are appropriated sufficient to carry on the needed work of these departments. She quotes the authority of Dr. Louis I. Dublin, President of the American Public Health Association, to the effect that public health is a commodity that can be bought and that a few cents per capita expended on general health measures has paid dividends in lowering the cost of medical care for individual citizens and in the salvage of valuable lives.

"The need for public health protection, even in this enlightened age, is not fully comprehended," says Mrs. Dunbar. "The health of its school children is one of the important assets of any community. Constant care is the only way this assets can be conserved. Great results have been achieved in the fight against tuberculosis, but the work must be continued. To slacken in this effort may mean greatly increased expense to the community later. "Public health has been improving as the result of education and public care. This work must go on, in fact, it should be added to in these abnormal times when many families are finding it difficult to get the bare necessities of life, if the increasingly good record of the past decade or two is to be continued. "I urge all club members and women citizens generally to stand

Third Inning
Hendrick was robbed of a hit by Winslow on first who made a nice stop and then picked the ball up to tag the base. Wright took three lusty whiffs and left down. Merrill lifted one to left field for a safe hit, but was

Staff upset the dope by knocking one to the left field grandstands, but got out of base. He turned his ankle on first base stop, but was able to continue after a brief rest. Weidaw took two swings and the umpire took one to fan him. Taylor stopped a hard ball of Greeley's and threw him out at first. Buckley fled out to Curley.

Connelly hit one at Weidaw who knocked it down and then threw a little wild to Clarke. Clarke was used to these wild throws and managed to make a nice stop and get the putout. Crovo made a nice catch on Winslow's long fly. Brooks was passed. Weidaw was finding it hard to get them over as the wind was blowing a terrific gale. Steer fled out to Wright.

Inning featured by stop of Clarke on Weidaw's wild throw. Score 3-3.

Fifth Inning
Clarke was thrown out at first. Crovo out by same means. Hendrick fled out to O'Neill in center field.

Weidaw went wild for a minute and beamed O'Neill, who was unable to continue and Crosby took his place. Marcoux bunted, and Weidaw threw wild to Clarke who managed to get the ball but was drawn off the bag and it was safe all around. Foley advanced both runners on a sacrifice bunt. Curley hit to Merrill on second who made the play for home but Wright waited for the runner to come in and he slid safely in. Taylor took the cue and hit to the same place. The same thing transpired except that Wright dropped the ball that time. Marcoux scored on that error. Wright woke up and whipped the ball down third to Buckley who tagged Curley. Connelly was thrown out at first by Merrill. Inning featured by wild peds of Arlington team. Score 5-3.

Sixth Inning
Wright struck only Merrill fled out to Marcoux in right field. Staff fled out to Foley in left field.

Winslow was thrown out at first by Greeley. Clarke made another hard stop digging the wild throw out of the dirt. Brooks found Weidaw for a single to right field. Steer was safe on first, on an error by Merrill. Crosby fielded out to Greeley. Marcoux fled out to Crove.

Inning featured by catch of Crovo's on Marcoux. Score 5-3.

Seventh Inning
Weidaw fielded out to Foley in left field. Greeley earned a passing into a double play. Curley, and Buckley erased both by hit to Steer, to Winslow.

Weidaw passed Foley who stole second on "what an arm" Wright. Curley also walked. Expecting a bunt Clarke had played close and got Taylor's bunt. He threw to Merrill on first who dropped the ball. Merrill threw home in an attempt to cut off Foley at the plate but the score counted. Clarke played heads up baseball, threw back of their health departments and see that needed funds are given them to carry on the valuable work they have been doing. Economy is a good thing, not only in those times but in better times, but false economy, that means added expense later and the loss of valuable lives, must not be put into effect. Women's organizations can help avert a public calamity by keeping before the citizens of their communities the facts about the necessity for adequate health protection through sufficient appropriation. This is only a continuation of work which Federated Clubs are already doing. caught trying to steal second on a nice throw by Brooks. Buckley played errorless ball took Foley's drive smoothly throwing him out at first. Curley hit a terrific grounder at Buckley which was tagged for a hit, but Buckley robbed him with a catch, which brought a loud burst of applause from the crowd. Taylor thought that he could sneak one by, but Buckley made another brilliant stop to throw him out at first. Buckley's throw to first were far from perfect, due to the unevenness of the ground and the high wind. Clarke helped Buckley's brilliant performance by making some marvelous catches on the rather poor throws.

LEGION AUXILIARY HEARS PORTUGUESE CONSUL TELL OF HIS COUNTRY

A. F. Brambo, acting Portuguese consul, Boston, the "Fidac" guest of honor at the meeting of the American Legion auxiliary, was introduced to the assembly by Mrs. Ethel Appleton, unit fidac chairman.

Mr. Brambo spoke of his country, Portugal, by saying "Portugal is small in area, but a big country in spirit and in courage." Portugal has been a country for eight hundred years. Sailors of Portugal explored all parts of the world, and through the efforts of Henry the Navigator, who established a school of navigation and erected an observatory in Sagres, a foundation of commerce and colonial possession was laid, and gave a new direction to navigation and commercial enterprises. Christopher Columbus first learned to manage a ship in Portugal.

Portugal struggled through a succession of conflicts, but the Spanish yolk was the most grievous to the Portuguese, and it took many efforts to break it. Finally, in 1640, by a successful revolt of the nobles, Portugal recovered her independence, which continued through centuries, until the dissatisfaction of the people with the methods pursued by the government, caused the sudden revolutionary movement, October 3, 1910, in the streets of Lisbon. Troops joined the revolutionists, and the outbreak made such rapid and successful progress that by the 5th Manuel had fled the kingdom, and a republic was proclaimed.

The beauties of Lisbon, the capitol, were described by Mr. Brambo. The city is built on, and at the foot of, a succession of hills, in the form of an amphitheatre. Lisbon is about as large as Greater Boston; the city is not crowded, and there are no buildings over five stories high. The cost of living in Portugal is cheap, and Mr. Brambo emphasized the fact that tourists were not exploited. The most remarkable specimen of architecture which Lisbon boasts of is the aqueduct which conveys water to the city from springs 1-2 miles distant. The harbor is one of the finest in the world, and the quays extend between two and three miles along the bank of the river. The exports consist, chiefly, of fine wines, oil, and fruit. A beautiful garden, really heavenly, surrounds an ancient Moorish castle, where every conceivable flower may be seen in bloom throughout the year. "A place where one can forget one's self and dream."

There are many theatres in the city of Lisbon, but in order to enjoy the "talkies" it is necessary to know the Portuguese language. Sports of all kinds are enjoyed in this capitol; even the bull-fights, because they are not the sanguinary type when men, horses, and bulls are killed. The bull-fights show the dexterity of the men; in fact, they show you how to run away from a bull. The climate of Portugal is ideal; in general, the winter is short and mild, and in some places never completely interrupts the course of vegetation. The heat is dry and not distressing. Mr. Brambo said that he first debarked in New York during a snow storm, and he honestly thought he had reached the North Pole.

Would Last Longer
It is the opinion of Mr. Brambo that if the United States had not entered the World War that the conflict would have lasted two or three years longer. "The war was lost to the Germans when they first saw the Americans land in Europe." Portugal sent 60,000 soldiers to France, but suffered their severe losses in Africa because of the climate and fevers.

Mr. Brambo finished his interesting talk by explaining the symbols of the flag of his country, and with the words, "Let us be friends; let us be human; let us be Christians, and we will always be happy."

The entertainment was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Botelho. Mr. Botelho's first selection was "A voz de Portugal," (Voice of Portugal). Mrs. Botelho sang "A Minha Aldeia," (My Village). Mr. Botelho then sang, "Saudades," which is a Portuguese fox-trot, and then followed a duet, "O Teu Olhar." The final selection was rendered by Mr. Botelho, "Fado dos Aldeia," (Songs of Whistles). The Portuguese visitors sang their National anthem, and the members of the auxiliary responded by singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

Mr. Adelaide Devaney, the president of the American Legion auxiliary to Post 45, conducted the short business meeting, and introduced the guests. His Honor, Mayor Burke, spoke of the significance of "Fidac." Mrs. Emma Lovejoy, department president of the auxiliary, explained in detail the letter received from Mrs. Louise Williams, the national president of the organization, which requested a small contribution from the units throughout the United States to help furnish two school rooms in Pershing Memorial, France, where the children of Americans in France, many of whom are orphans, may be taught the English language. The members voted to contribute to this worthy project, and by so doing the name of Medford Unit will be inscribed on a permanent parchment in this Memorial.

Both Mrs. Elizabeth Giblin, State chaplain, and Mrs. Catherine Garrity, Middlesex county chairman, spoke on the importance of a paid-up membership in order that the auxiliaries may be able to carry on their work of service.

Mrs. Hazel G. Soper of Boston avenue, and Mrs. G. Gladys Johnston, 28 Cottage Park road, were admitted to the Auxiliary. Refreshments were served under the chairmanship of the hostesses, Mrs. Margaret Ewell.

Chances For Automobile Accidents Increase 14 Per Cent In 4 Months

The chances for automobile accidents have increased nearly 14 per cent in the first four months of the 1932 fiscal year over the same period a year ago, the Governor's committee on street and highway safety announced in its report. The committee's review of the accident situation, with a warning on the increased exposure to mishaps on the highway which the present year has brought.

Although there are some 45,000 cars on the road this year, more than were last year, the number of accidents which are in operation are traveling a much greater distance than last year, thereby substantially boosting the chances for accident. This increase is definitely proved by a large increase in the gasoline consumption in the state as reported by the state department of corporations and taxation.

The department figures show that gasoline consumption for the first four months of the present fiscal year (Dec. 1, to April 1, 1932) has jumped to 152,168,544 gallons. This figure is conservative, inasmuch as the full reports for the month of March are not yet completed, but even with the figure likely to be boosted still more by the complete March report, it is an increase of more than 10,000,000 gallons over the same four-month period last year. Translated into mileage, using the nationally accepted figures of 12 miles to a gallon as the average for all vehicles, this means that motorists this year have traveled 1,826,022,528 miles, as compared to 1,603,105,316 last year, an increase of 222,917,212 miles—or 13.9 per cent.

Thus the chances for accident may be said to have increased in the same ratio as the mileage covered, or, namely 13.9 per cent. Despite the fact that accident exposure has increased nearly 14 per cent, actual highway fatalities for the first four months have increased only 5 per cent, leaving a balance of approximately 9 per cent in favor of the motorists of the state as a whole this year.

Fatalities in the first four months of the fiscal year 1932 up to April 1 have reached a total of 225, according to figures from the registry of motor vehicles, as compared to 215 for the same period a year ago. The increase in fatalities is a total of 11 deaths, or 5.1 per cent, as compared to the exposure increase of more than 220,000,000 miles or 13.9 per cent.

Meanwhile there is a chance that the number of cars on the road may be still further reduced after today when inspectors from the registry of motor vehicles all over the state begin their strict checkup of all cars which have not been inspected and had the official green sticker attached. The final time limit for motor vehicle inspection expired at midnight Saturday and with all motorists given ample warning in the press and over the radio, the registry has announced that all uninspected cars are now subject to summary removal from the highways and their drivers are liable to have their licenses to drive suspended or revoked.

One other bright spot in the field of highway safety was noted in the week's reports of the Governor's committee. The results of the third month of the state-wide commercial vehicle safety contest, sponsored by the Governor's committee, showed that the 12,641 commercial vehicles competing in the contest turned in the best driving record of the year during the month of March, despite the fact that they too were subject to a large increase in accident exposure as revealed in a greatly increased number of hours of operation.

With a total of 384 fleets comprising 12,641 vehicles competing in March, there were only 599 accidents reported to 781 in February. This gave the field as a whole an accident rate of only 19.00 per 100,000 hours of operation as compared to 27.00 in February, despite the fact that the hours of operation rose from 2,667,584 to 3,080,496. At the same time, 52.3 per cent of the vehicles competing went through the month without an accident, leaving less than 5 per cent of the cars in the contest responsible for those accidents which did occur, while 60 per cent of the fleets as a whole also had clean slates for the month.

Car Must Have Green Sticker Today

The motor registry's entire corps of inspectors were on the job bright and early today on the watch for automobiles failing to display the official green stickers, which indicate that the machine's brakes and lights are in good working order.

Yesterday was the last day of grace given delinquents to comply with the law and any driver whose car was found without the green sticker would find himself in trouble.

PASTOR TALKS TO CLASS

The last meeting of St. John's Intermediate League was held at St. John's Methodist Episcopal church, Rev. Glen D. Glazier had a class on "What it means to be a Church Member." He also spoke of the government of the church. Those present were Miss Gladys Ennis, Miss Phyllis Reed, Miss Norma Fox, Miss Elizabeth Brown, Miss Elizabeth MacIntyre, Miss Edith MacKaskill, Miss Phyllis Jordan, Robert Darling, Frank and Richard Bradbury and Harold Gross.

Sickness Among Industrial Employees On Downward Trend

Continuing the favorable trend of preceding quarters, the final three months of 1931 recorded a small decrease in the frequency of sickness causing disability for more than one week as compared with the rate in the fourth quarter of 1930, and a substantial decrease (17 per cent) from the frequency in the last quarter of 1929. These findings were obtained upon analysis of all cases of disabling illness of 8 days' duration or longer, occurring among the male members of 27 industrial sick-benefit associations cooperating with the United States Public Health Service in current studies of the health of the industrial population. A favorable health status is thus indicated for a sample group of the industrial population of the country.

The record included about 144,000 men for the last quarter of 1931, about 154,000 for the corresponding period of 1930, and approximately 160,000 for the same period of 1929. For 1930 and 1931 the sickness rates covered identical companies, and for 1929, applied to 23 of the 27 companies included in 1930 and 1931.

For the year 1931 as a whole the sickness rate was somewhat higher than in 1930 on account of epidemic influenza in the first quarter of 1931. Exclusive of influenza, the 1931 sickness rate was the lowest of any year during the last decade. The influenza epidemic, although widespread, was not severe enough to increase appreciably the frequency of pneumonia and the year as a whole recorded one of the most favorable pneumonia rates experienced by the industrial population of the country since 1917.

A comparatively low rate of new cases of tuberculosis of the respiratory system was shown for 1931. A remarkable decrease was indicated for diseases of the upper respiratory tract, especially for bronchitis (acute and chronic) and for diseases of the pharynx and tonsils (chiefly tonsillitis). The rates for these diseases being below the frequency shown for any of the preceding ten years.

The rate for digestive diseases as a whole was below the average rate for the preceding ten years, but certain numerically important diseases of the digestive system failed to pursue a declining trend line. The most notable decrease as compared either with 1930 or with the ten-year average was recorded for diseases of the stomach (except cancer). A favorable rate, also, was shown for diarrhea and enteritis. Appendicitis, however, was reported at exactly the average incidence exhibited during the preceding ten years, and cases of hernia were more numerous than in the preceding year or in the ten-year period. For other diseases of the digestive system as a group the 1931 rates were also relatively high.

The incidence rate of nonrespiratory nondigestive diseases was below the annual average frequency from 1921 to 1930. Within this very broad class of diseases, however, certain sub-groups showed rate rises in 1931 which were in excess of the ten-year average. Among these were certain diseases of the circulatory system, especially diseases of the heart, diseases of the genito-urinary system, and adnexa (except nephritis), and diseases of the nervous system.

On the favorable side, attention may be called to a substantial decrease in the frequency of rheumatism (acute and chronic), diseases of the skin, and the epidemic and endemic diseases, exclusive of influenza. In the last named group are typhoid, smallpox, measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough, diphtheria, mumps, erysipelas, and other important epidemic and endemic diseases which, as a group, decreased in frequency in 1931 in the population under consideration.

METROPOLITAN THEATRE

Anna May Wong, seductive siren of stage and screen, comes in person to head the bill at Metropolitan Theatre this week, when Arthur Lake, enchanting comedian of the screen also is presented in person while on the screen is offered Kay Francis in "Man Wanted," with David Manners and Una Merkel being numbered among her supporting cast. Rarely does any theatre present two screen stars in person on the same bill.

Anna May Wong last appeared in Boston in the stage play "On The Spot" and was last seen here in the picture "Shanghai Express." She has won deserved fame as a portrayal of Oriental roles Arthur Lake has achieved distinction in many screen offerings and is especially popular with the younger set.

"Man Wanted," gives Kay Francis opportunity to display her marvelous gowns and her alluring form and mannerisms. The plot is a modern, ultra smart one and brings together a cast of real stars.

On the stage also will be Ranny Weeks, singing songs of the Southland, "Dreams of Dixie," Fabien Sevitzky conducts the Metropolitan Grand Orchestra in "Pomp and Circumstance" and Arthur Mather offers a novel organ number.

ALPHA DELTA MEETS

The Alpha Delta Sigma fraternity was the guest of Walter Kerins of West Medford at his home on Wednesday evening.

The boys decided to take in James Brown of the Hillside as a member. The official newspaper of the frat "The Rivet," was distributed. George Moses entertained with songs and jokes until refreshments were served.

Those present were: Edward Langin, Thomas Morrison, Loren Clark, George Moses, Craig Murdoch, Gilbert Mason, Walter Kerins, Richard Johnson and Merton Caldwell.

HOLLIS ST. THEATRE
Boston has quite fallen captive and most happily, to Helen Ford and her arresting chaperon as a comedienne in her present offering at the Hollis St. Theatre "A Church Mouse," the international comedy success by Laszlo Podor. Critics and public alike have been enthusiastic in praise of the star and her company of the comedy and its performance.

The story concerns the engagement of a secretary of a very modest and self-effacing church-mouse maiden from the country by a moderately middle-aged Vienna capitalist. She is poor and ignorant of worldly ways, not to mention the allurements of her sex. She soon develops into a good amuseuse however, and her natural intelligence leads her to venture investing her attractions. She wins abundant admiration and gradually assumes a secretarial management of her employer's business affairs. During her business visit to Paris she becomes to full blossom and charms the members of the opposite sex chief of whom is her employer. By an ingenious method he succeeds in winning her hand and thus crowns with success and happiness the career of the once shrinking violet "church mouse."

Miss Ford's company includes John B. Little, Richard B. Whorf, Gerald Oliver Smith, Howard Bailey, Ethel Taylor and Stephen Appleby.

IN PLAY
Miss Irene Zacharias of 103 Sagamore avenue, West Medford, is taking the leading role in a short play to be given by the Lutheran church of Boston in the near future.

Spring Sports At Jackson College

With the coming of warm weather to the "Hill" nearly every member of Jackson Department for Women at Tufts College, is taking advantage of the facilities offered by the college for various sports.

chogue, N. Y., has represented Jackson in several archery tournaments since in college. Classes are given for beginners and advanced students, contests being arranged for both classes. On May 3, the new students of archery in Jackson are to take part in a meet against the novices of Radcliffe.

There are over 20 girls taking riding at Jackson, which is given in conjunction with a Riding School. Instruction is given within the ring and on the bridge path, twice a week. Miss Ramona J. Sawyer, '32, Ware, has been interested in riding for two years now, and believes that her instruction and enjoyment at Jackson has given her a fine beginning for after college participation.

One of the most popular classes is that in track. Freshmen and sophomores are required to sign up for regular classes, two sports, and the track has attracted a great many Juniors and Seniors who are not compelled to take gym have decided they also need the exercise now that winter is over and join the underclassmen in running, jumping, hurdling, etc. Miss R. Jean Lowery, '33, New London, Conn., is one of the most active in track events.

As in the case in so many colleges, tennis is one of the best organized sports. A varsity team of about seven members engages in three matches each year, usually with Radcliffe, Wheaton, and Pembroke. When the courts are not occupied by classes for every stage of players, or varsity practice many Jackson girls enjoy the splendid exercise which tennis affords. Miss Ruth A. Behrend, '33, South Manchester, Conn., is playing her third season of tennis for Jackson, and is the most outstanding singles player on the team.

Baseball is another intercollegiate sport enjoyed at Jackson. Miss M. Margaret Taylor, '32, Sound Beach, Connecticut, is captain of this year's Baseball team which will probably meet Pembroke in two games sometime this month.

Tufts is very fortunate in possessing a golf course. While only 6 holes, students of Tufts and Jackson find it sufficient to meet their need. Tufts has a varsity golf team and Jackson always enjoys an intra-mural tournament.

Miss Doris E. Pender, '34, Fitchburg, Mass., is a constant golf player at Jackson.

All these classes are conducted by Miss Ruth G. Lincks, assisted by Miss Reba L. Coe, of the Department of Physical Education.
